As we recall the days of boom-chick-a-boom, a sense of pride and accomplishment mixed with a bit of frustration is foremost in our minds. The remembrance of exciting but fleeting seconds which compose our Nostalgic Reflections brings forth a feeling of timelessness. Through this remembrance we realize the importance of each and every moment of our lives. The effort put forth is vividly recalled through games and matches, clubs and discussions, dances and various school-sponsored activities.

We have been confronted with many challenges during the year; some we have surmounted, and others we have met with defeat. Using the knowledge we have acquired during the year, we are able to reflect intelligently upon our experiences. As we reminisce, we understand that it is up to us to make each moment a priceless asset toward the achievement of our final goal. Our reflections may be either happy or sad, but they play an important part in the life of each of us.

Expanded Board of Directors Facilitates Improvements

Many times during the school year, representatives of the Board of Directors could be seen in the various areas of the school, becoming familiar with the problems of running a school. With the addition of a lay delegate from each parish, the Board became twice as effective in determining the needs of the school and the methods for meeting these needs. Under the guidance and leadership of Monsignor McGovern, the expanded Board of Directors expects doubled results from twice the effort. Coupled with the concern and endeavors of the principal and staff of the school, the efforts of the Board of Directors of LCHS have already produced a school equal to the very best in the surrounding area.

Fifteenth Year Deserves Reflections

There may be times when good leadership is scarce, but LCHS students are not aware of such times. For fifteen years, Father Taylor's enthusiastic leadership has been a guiding light to his students. His interest in the individual can be observed in his efforts to know each student by name--a spectacular achievement in a school population exceeding 1100. Father always has time to listen to student representatives, granting requests whenever feasible. Father's bicycling influence is directly responsible for the formation of a Bike Club. In spite of a demanding schedule, Father maintains an active interest in his students--an interest which will remain in the reflections of each student for a long time to come. Good leadership has not been scarce at LCHS--not for fifteen years.

Vice-Principals Provide Direction

Students seldom give much thought to the time and effort involved in schedule preparation. Sister Inez Joseph, Vice-Principal for Instruction, formulates the rosters of all students, always concerned with individual needs. Without Sister's dedication, the computer could not do its work. On the other hand, most students are aware of the Vice-Principal for Student Affairs. Even those who have not met Mr. DiPaolo personally are alert to his job. Mr. DiPaolo encounters many problems in a day, but his ability to deal justly with each one has won him the respect of the student body.

Where Are They? Where Are They Going?

The above questions express the concerns of Sister Marie Stephen, Dean of Attendance, and of Father Lavelle, Chaplain. Sister is in charge of the "who is where, when, and why" department, while Father heads the department of "who will be where." Sister's job can become a bit hectic at times. Checking the whereabouts of 1100 students is no small matter, but Sister manages to keep everything well under control. Father's job is not one where the records are kept in books, but his responsibility for 1100 souls is a staggering one. Moreover, innumerable graduates continue to count Father as their friend and advisor. Always available when needed, Father offers advice, gives a helping hand, or simply supplies an encouraging smile.

Guidance Makes Future Come Alive

Small group guidance sessions have proved to be a huge success. Mr. O'Donnell and Miss Wallace are now able to reach and help more students. These sessions are also an advantage to the students since through the sessions students hear the ideas of others and thereby are better prepared to make their own decisions about the future.

Art and Home Ec Classes Spark Creativity

A new potter's wheel? The Art Department needs no mechanical device to ignite the creative genius of its artists. Sister Helen David creates the atmosphere for art to happen. She guides the "born" artist and inspires the "acquired" one to new success. The legacy of this department continues to be more beautiful murals for the school.

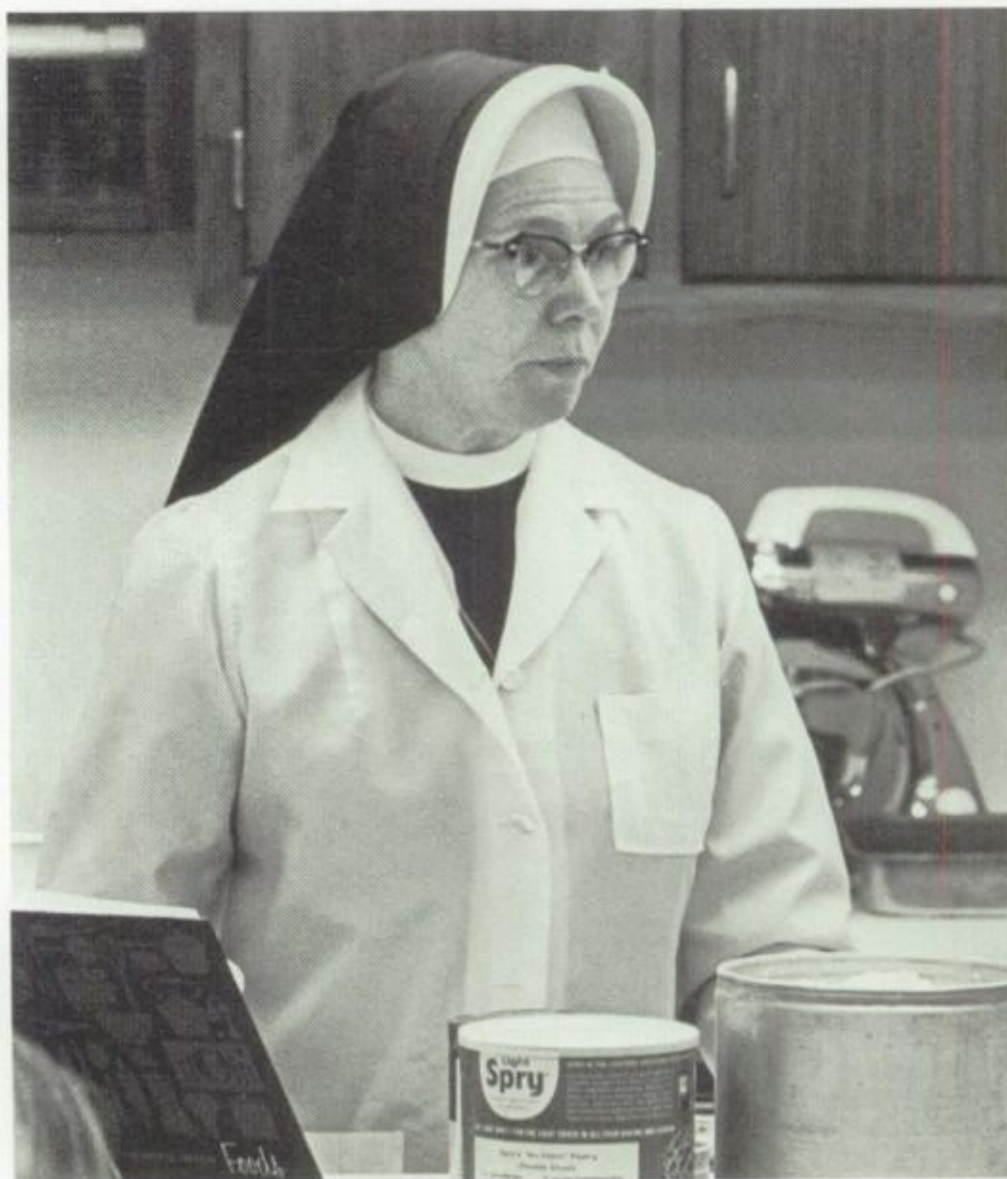

Crepes Suzette? Jambalaya? Almond Parfait? Whatever the preference, Sister Marie Irene and the Home Ec girls create it. Their genius lies in producing an appetizing balanced diet from a modest budget. Moreover, while the apple pie is baking, these girls design and fashion their own clothes. Can creativity possibly be more practical?

Business Department Proves Superior In Its Field

The diversity of local industries and the needs of students cause the Business Department of LCHS to be one of "change." Whenever the need arises, a new course is added to the curriculum. This year the addition was the Notehand-Typing Course. Because this department makes the necessary changes, it continues to be outstanding in preparing students for assured success in the business world.

English Classes Induce Action

Students will remember for a long time the active changes in this year's English department. Theater trips are on the agenda, and free lectures and films at Millersville, Franklin and Marshall, and Elizabethtown Colleges are appealing to eager young students. More action is also found in the intercom system between Room 125 and the IMC so that students can broadcast their own radio shows. In addition, students continue to produce TV shows. Remember when English meant just the diagramming of sentences? Now at LCHS English has become a much more active subject than it was in those days.

Languages Focus On Other Cultures

The Language Department formed Language Clubs this year to reinforce the study of each of the foreign languages offered. Latin students compared modern times with those of Cicero and Horace. Spanish, French, and German students learned much about the cultures of those countries by reading descriptive pamphlets and current magazines--all printed in the foreign tongue. Field trips to theaters showing foreign language films proved very popular, and Easter vacation in Paris was an experience not soon forgotten.

Library Expands

The assemblage of resource materials in the library is constantly increasing. Sister Benigna strives to satisfy the academic appetite of all students with the books, records, films, and tapes that she continues to accumulate. Magazines on microfilm and a microfilm reader are welcome additions to expanding library furnishings. The wise heart seeking knowledge is at home in the LCHS library.

Hitting High Notes Is Fun

At LCHS the high notes and the low notes are fun and rewarding. Mr. McCaskey and Sister Adele collaborate to have, according to Sister, "additional variety shows so that students may display their talents and thereby come to use them." The Band, attracting greater numbers each year, is another route on the pathway of the musically gifted. This year more students than ever before have found in this department an enriching and challenging tribute to God's gift to them -- their musical talent.

Arithmetic Acquires A New Look

Computer Programming and Theory of Equations or Vector Analysis are the two new choices offered by the Mathematics Department this year. A programmable calculator has also made its entrance into this department. Calculus classes occupy seven periods a week for seniors who are preparing for the Advanced Placement Test. Sister Alice Francis observes that the results of these innovations are most encouraging. Never neglecting the old, always testing the new, the math teachers at LCHS make the old arithmetic seem ever new and most practicable.

Phys. Ed. Builds Physique

Strike up one for Women's Lib with the addition of flag football to the girls' gym classes. Girls gained valuable practice at the sport, and interest in the Powder Puff game held during Homecoming Weekend was at an all-time high. The male world of football had been invaded by the hardy heroines. Meanwhile, the boys kept fit jumping hurdles, playing basketball, practicing stunts on the rings, and wrestling. It was a rather strenuous year in the Physical Education Department, but one well worth the effort. Phys. Ed. builds physique.

New Ideas Revolutionize Study of Religion

The most revolutionary idea in the Religion Department is the formation of a program called "Introduction to Religious Education." The course, taught by Sister Marita Regina, is designed to prepare students for future CCD instruction. A Religion Resource Center, enabling students to have access to more and varied religious readings, is another of the department's innovations. Regularly scheduled faculty Masses are also on the agenda for this year. The religion program is geared to satisfy the needs of individuals, and it makes the religious learning process at LCHS a living and liveable experience.

Science Restores Environment

The recent ecology movement has sparked a new Ecology Course in the Science Department. A success--and scheduled again for next year--this course also benefits from the team teaching of two faculty members. The relevant subject matter augmented by teacher enthusiasm initiated vigorous student involvement. This course will probably become a permanent part of the Science curriculum.

Electives Mark Social Studies

The Social Studies curriculum this year was characterized by flexibility. Several new courses were added which enabled students to select the course most appealing to them. The traditional POD disappeared entirely. Mr. Timko and students voiced satisfaction with the new system, and the decision is that it will remain. The S.P.A.C.E. course, too, expanded with the inclusion of more and varied agencies providing more work opportunities.

Freshmen

Equipped with maps of the school, sharpened pencils, and neat uniforms, meek 8th graders became the Class of '76. The Spirit of '76 has already shown the familiar signs of enthusiasm and eagerness in its exuberant cries at Sports Activities and in the success of class projects. The year's end may bring broken pencils and ragged uniforms, but the Freshmen will remember a year of rewarding experiences.

Sophomores

With a memorable first year behind them, the Sophs looked forward to flaunting their new status over the incoming Frosh. Their characteristic impatience soon marked them as Sophomores. The Class of '75, the Class of the Hare, is ready to tackle anything, and their enthusiasm sparks excitement in all that they do. They have proceeded through this important year with one continuous sequence of leaps and bounds.

Juniors

Entering the realm of upper classmen, the Junior Class has molded giggly Freshmen into mature, mellowed Juniors. The class is not decrepit with old age, however. On the contrary, Juniors have been popping up in almost every activity the school has to offer. As swinging sock hoppers, Juniors proved to be the greatest. As rough and ready football players, they really packed a punch. As scholarly savants, Juniors topped the best. This Class of the Tiger is a roaring success.

Vo-Tech

Vocational-Technical Education is a rewarding experience for those students who feel that college is not their goal. Vo-tech students encounter conditions similar to those they will find in the world of work after high school. These students learn from teachers with much experience in their respective trades. The on-the-job atmosphere is invaluable as a preparation for the future. The three area Vo-tech High Schools, located at Willow Street, Brownstown, and Mount Joy, provide LCHS students a rich and satisfying education in the skills of the tradesmen.

ACTIVITIES

Student Council

Student Council Officers this year verified that Student Council is an integral part of LCHS. They worked diligently in amending the school constitution, in seeking revision of student rules, in sponsoring a Homecoming especially for alumni, and in forming new clubs requested by students. The value of a student government depends almost entirely on the superiority of its officers. Fortunately, the current officers of Student Council have proved to be outstanding in their efforts to represent the students.

Senators

Student Council defined much more clearly this year the role of Senators so that they were able to function effectively and unhesitantly. Senators sought opinions of students in the home-rooms and carried these ideas to the weekly meetings where both students and faculty were welcome. Vo-tech students for the first time elected their own representatives. Student Council undoubtedly fulfilled its purpose--a council of and for the students.

Lensmen Record Realities

The camera records only what it "sees." School photographers manipulate the camera so that it "sees" the true essence of life at LCHS. Photo Club members are present at all school activities with their "seeing" cameras. Guided by Mr. Hertzler, moderator, members demonstrate proper techniques for capturing the realities of student life. The pictures taken by student photographers become a part of the pictorial history of LCHS.

Art Club Utilizes Diversity

An idea or a whim, a fancy or a frustration, all find a medium for expression in the Art Club. Sister Helen David, moderator, is entirely successful in channeling the diversity of talents into meaningful expression. Stenciling, silk screening, poster or bulletin board work, acrylic, oil or water painting, even ceramics or sculpting are all available to the potential artist. Moreover, all this talent is beneficial to other school endeavors. No request is refused by this most helpful club. Their creative efforts are evident in almost every facet of school life. LCHS appreciates the aesthetic contributions of a most talented Art Club.

Band Demonstrates Pride

LCHS's unbeatable Band marched through another year with their precision drills and captivating music. Inspired by the hard work and enthusiasm of Mr. McCaskey and veteran Band members, the Marching Band increased to seventy-three dedicated musicians. Once again the Band lent its talents to several parades throughout the county. A few of this year's new songs were "Olympic Fanfare and March," "Beginnings," "Hogan's Heroes," and "Superstar." This Band deserves much praise, but no words express the true sentiment better than: "This Band has PRIDE!"

Drill Team Sparkles With Precision

The Drill Team, under the leadership of Captain Fran Paydock, added sparkle to the LCHS Band. Precision drills, executed to perfection, enhanced the marching skill of the entire band. At football games and in parades, the members evidenced precise techniques acquired through daily practice. The motto of the team is: Perfection through practice; its mark is: Excellence in performance.

Chorus Explodes With Music

The Chorus exploded this year with music as well as with members. Under the direction of Sister Adele, membership climbed to 138. These gifted vocalists entertained at the Variety Show and Christmas program. News of this musical explosion traveled beyond the new gym, and the Chorus provided carols for the December PTO meeting. The Spring Concert and Diocesan Chorus completed this musically explosive year for the expanding LCHS Chorus.

Speech Stimulates Communication

Speech opens the door to communication, and the LCHS Forensics Club gives its members a chance to step through this door. Under the direction of Sister St. Irminus, Sister Miriam Jane, and Sister Mary Aida, willing and enthusiastic students can speak in the field of their choice--debate, declamation, extemporaneous speaking, original oratory, and oral interpretation. Active participation begins with classroom practice. Members then travel to other schools for competition with speakers in the Harrisburg Catholic Forensic League, The Pennsylvania High School Speech League, and the Harrisburg Area Debate League. The Club is also an affiliate in the National Forensic League. The goals are the state finals and the national finals, held this year in Chicago, but even if these goals are not reached, forensics proves to be a challenging opportunity.

Honor Society Fosters Scholars

Membership in the National Honor Society demands scholarship. All members must maintain an 85 scholastic average for three years. Scholarship, however, is not the only requisite for eligibility. Members must also possess leadership qualities as well as an outstanding character. Furthermore, members must have given of themselves through service to the school or community. Because of the stringent rules for membership, congratulations are in order for all students who have fulfilled the requirements of Scholarship, Leadership, Character, and Service.

Library Aides Augment Learning

LCHS students learned during their early days as Freshmen how best to utilize the library resources. When trying to locate information, they can turn to any of the diligent library aides for assistance. Under the guidance of Sister Benigna, approximately 25 student library aides stand ready to "check in" or "stamp out" books. Cheerfully, they assist their fellow students in the magazine room. Renewing and shelving books are two other duties they have assumed in helping to maintain an efficient library. When help is needed to finish a term paper, students know that a library aide becomes a welcome johnny-on-the-spot.

Clubs Break Language Barrier

Language Clubs have served to break the language barrier. French, German, Latin, and Spanish Clubs were formed to allow more time for members to practice the language and study the customs of the respective countries. Meetings offer opportunities for skits and games peculiar to the particular cultures, and they are occasions to sample native dishes prepared by club members.

Chess Moves For LCHS

Mysterious codes such as "King's rook to Queen four" became clear when the Chess Club was organized under Mr. Fritsch's guidance this year. The club has progressed to competitive matches and has entered the Lancaster-Lebanon Chess League. Practice meetings of the LCHS members occur weekly, but each lunch period offers additional time for a few quick moves. Ratings have been established to determine which player moves the most in LCHS chess. With such competition, a grandmaster may be in the making; so watch out Bobby Fischer!

The Ecology Club was formed to extend Earth Day involvement to a year-long environmental fight. With recycled glass as its weapon, this small but prosperous group has made a significant contribution to sane use of dwindling resources. Although monetary gain is not a primary aim of the group, its participation in recycling at F&M will net LCHS additional trees.

Pep Club Displays Spirit

Few activities contribute as much to the maintenance of school spirit as does the Pep Club. Pride plus enthusiasm is the name of the game for this group. Through long hours, these loyal students expend much energy and ingenuity to insure solid support of the school's numerous athletic endeavors. Their efforts mirror LCHS's pride and spirit.

Spelunkers Explore Depths

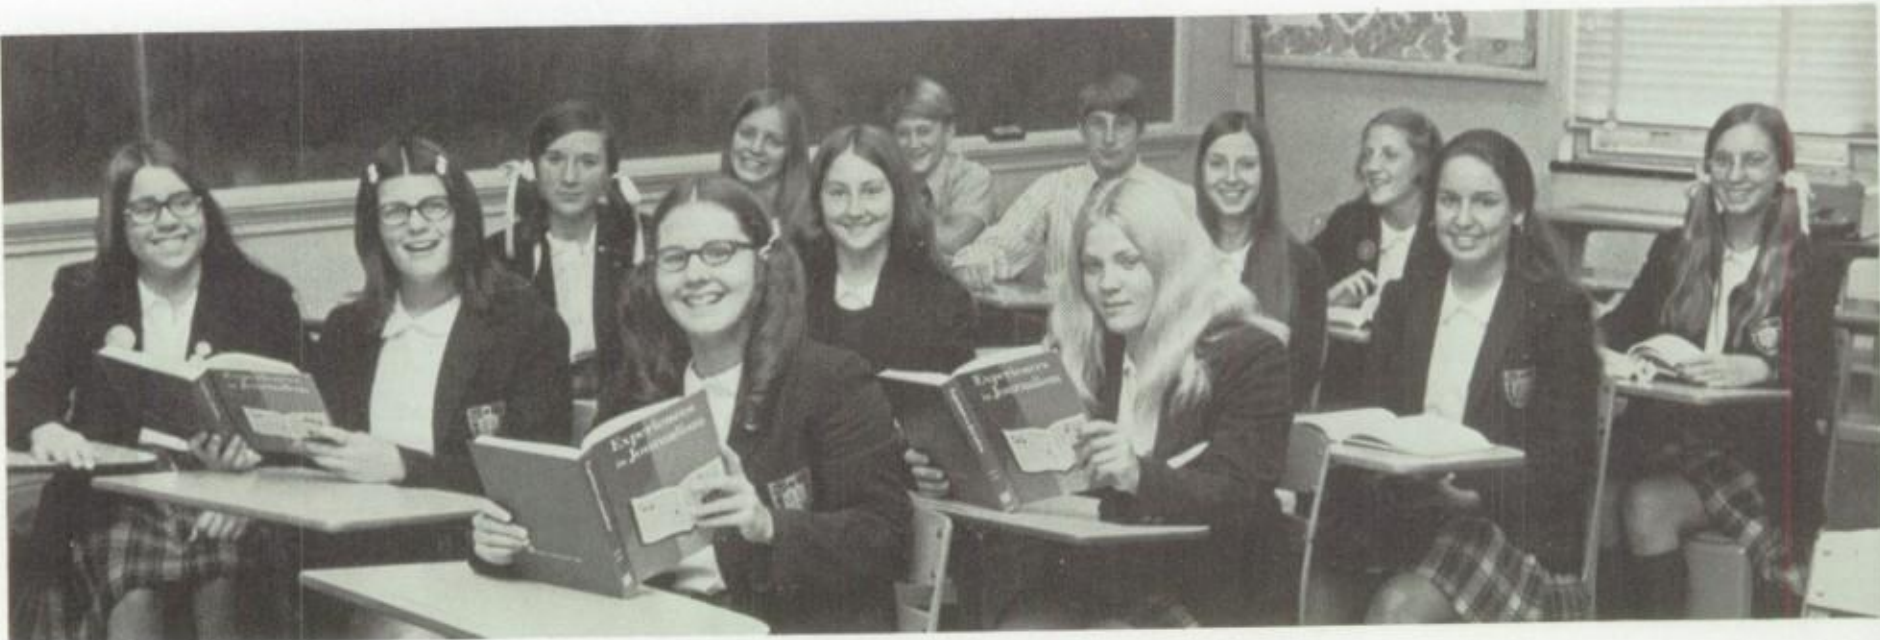

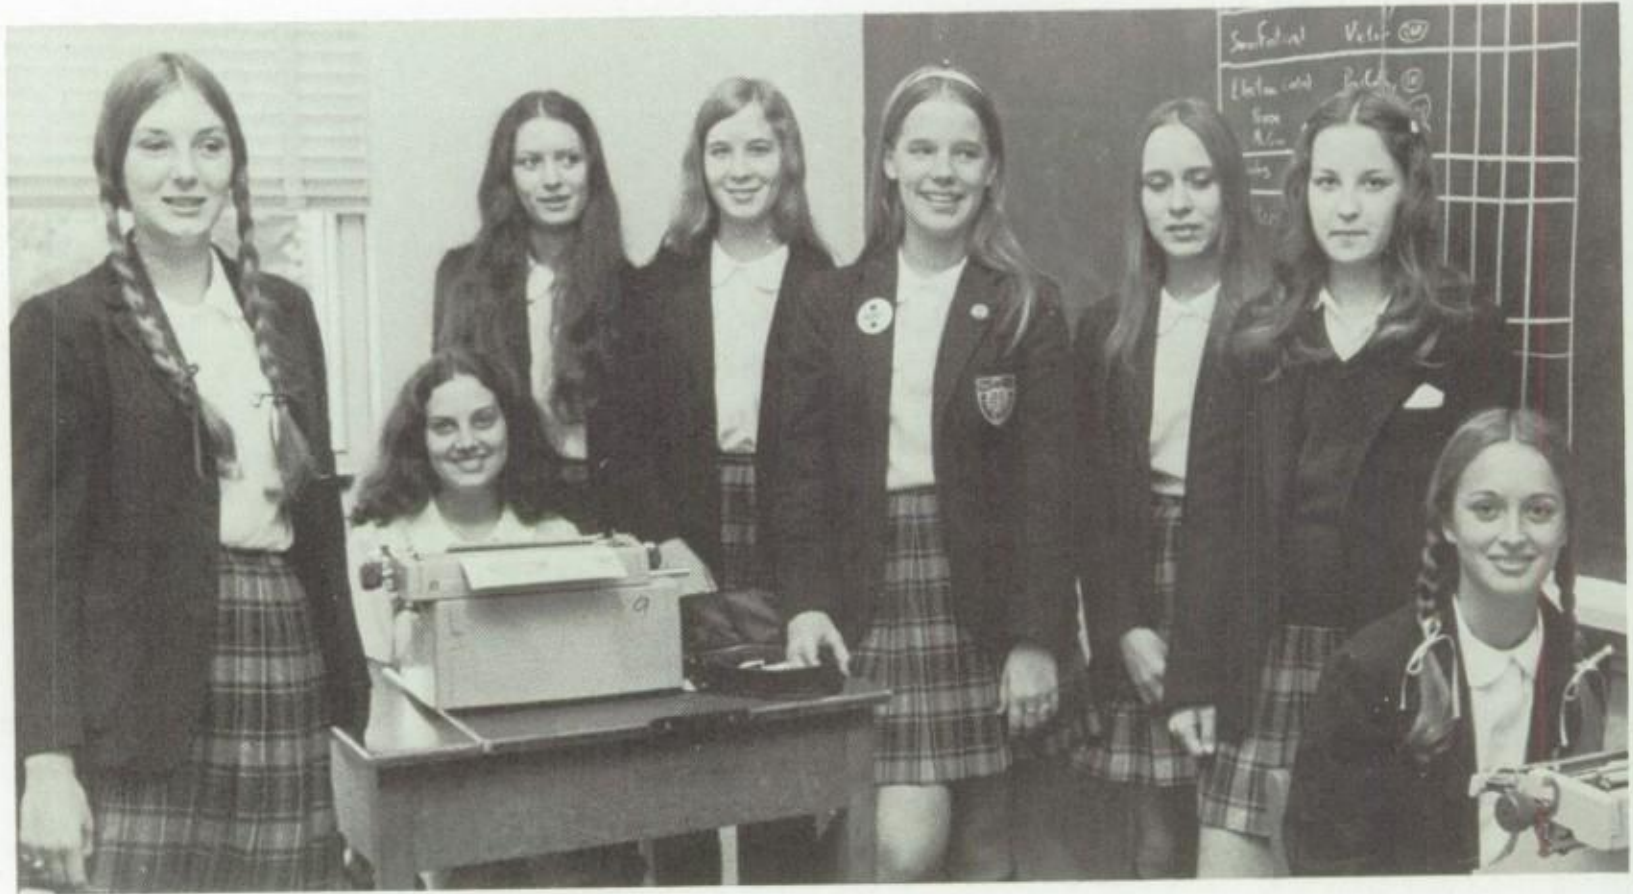

The desire to go away and crawl into a deep, dark hole might connote depression to some people, but not to the LCHS Spelunking Club. These students have often done just that. Many a Sunday has found the newly-formed club in dark caves, dangling from ropes, squeezing through crevices, or just asking if life on the "outside" is really all that bad. Cave exploring, with Mr. Hertzler leading the way, has become a popular, challenging, and informative activity at LCHS. The once difficult-to-remember distinction between stalagtites and stalagmites is now old hat (hard hat, of course). Forays to Pequea, Lisborne, and York proved to be highlights of exploration and adventure as this hardy group formulated plans for sojourns to famous caves outside the state. Many of the spelunkers are hoping: this year Pequea Cave--next year Mammoth Cave.

(TOP LEFT) "Told you we could make it," exclaim Karen Sergi and Julie Preperato. Rambler Aims Ever Higher

"This year's staff is terrific," says Sister Harold Mary, advisor to the RAMBLER. They did get off to a flying start by publishing an issue during the first week of school, and each succeeding issue was published with the same speed and skill. The staff's accurate and thorough coverage of school events and the unbiased selection of editorials, which are in turn praised and then criticized, made the '72-'73 school year an outstanding one for the RAMBLER.

Rosmarian Registers "Reflections"

Several hundred layout sheets, a like number of pictures, and much work produce a yearbook. The '73 ROSMARIAN staff worked to provide a book filled with variety and vitality. Editor-in-Chief Sue Ursprung coordinated energy and ideas to produce the parts needed for a unified whole--the "Nostalgic Reflections" of a good year, 1972-73.

Mission And Guitar Clubs Renew Aims

The traditional school spirit at LCHS extends beyond the school campus to reach foreign mission lands. Mission Club representatives continued to work for financial support for the poor and homeless. Student contributions also helped to educate priests for the domestic and foreign missions. This club is truly an example of Christian charity in action. Its slogan, "Dig a little deeper," is familiar to all students who respond as their Christian background has trained them to do.

Although reduced in number this year, the Guitar Club continued to respond when needed. The strains of their guitars were heard wherever pleasing music was an asset.

Health Careers Club Pursues Interests

Health Careers Club members discover where their inclinations lie. The club provides opportunity for volunteer work at St. Joseph's Hospital or for hosting a party for retarded children of Kiefer School. Trips to Hershey Medical Center and the X-ray Lab at St. Joseph's are available. Members also collect eye glasses and sell toothbrushes. This year the club secured a speech therapist as a speaker for an all-school assembly. This club certainly does foster Health Careers.

Old Gym Rollicks With Senior Play

"The Odd Couple" returned to LCHS as the seniors succeeded in producing a thoroughly enjoyable version of Neil Simon's comedy. Under the direction of Miss Patricia Wallace, the old gym was transformed into a theater, where Steve Shade and Kevin Stewart displayed their thespian talents as Oscar and Felix. The supporting cast lent a mirthful complement, and the results were hilarious.

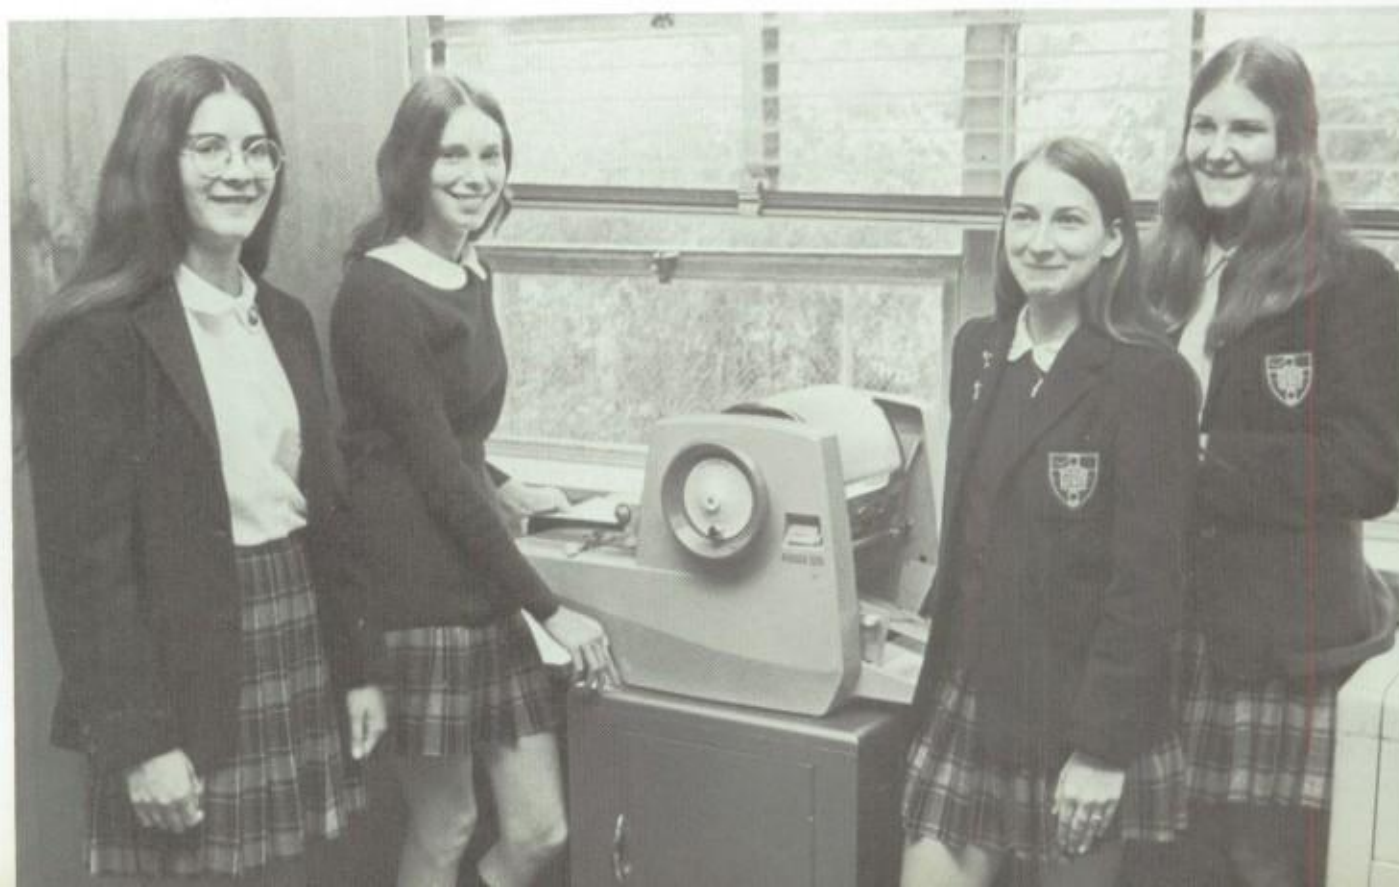

Secretaries Offer Service

The secretarial students will again have the opportunity to spend two weeks working for local businesses. These girls also serve in the school office where they can display proper telephone etiquette and competent office procedure. Furthermore, the girls provide typing service for all departments within the school. Undoubtedly, their precept is service.

Visiteens Help Aged

The Visiteens continue to brighten the days of older people in hospitals and homes. Many of the aged look forward to the girls' return. Caroling and gifts at Christmas always bring smiles. The Club proves to the elderly that someone really does care.

Homecoming Emphasizes Alumni

Homecoming '72 diverted time formerly spent on making floats to making posters of welcome for alumni. Pre-game activities for some students included decorating the playing field, while others issued invitations to recent grads. As the evening commenced, Catholic's decisive 22-6 victory over Bishop McDevitt excited students and alumni. Half-time ceremonies included the selection of vivacious Cathy Capp as Homecoming Queen. On Saturday the gridiron was again the center of interest for the "powder puff" football game. Later, powder puffs and beaux alike thrilled to the magic of the Homecoming Dance. Roller skating on Sunday offered the final exuberant fling of Homecoming '72.

ATHLETICS

Crusaders Crush Fallible Foes

The 1972 crushing Crusader football team polished off its season with the exhilarating record of 9-2. Tri-Captains Bruno Schmalhofer, Tom Donaldson, and Jim Stengel led the Crusaders through a smashingly brilliant football year. As the offense rolled up a total of 298 points, the defense held 4 teams scoreless. Victories over Wilson, York Suburban, Manheim Township, and Bishop McDevitt were thoroughly satisfying accomplishments, but the glorious Crusader triumph over McCaskey at the Thanksgiving Day encounter will long remain the victory of all victories for the crushing Crusaders of 1972--and for all LCHS football fans.

JV Cheerleaders Show Purple Pride

The "V" in JV stands not only for varsity but also for vim, vigor, and vitality. Although novices in their cheering career, the JV Cheerleaders are vibrant. The result of their constant practice is demonstrated repeatedly at JV basketball games and at wrestling matches. Already proficient at rousing fans to whole-hearted support of the athletes, these girls work tirelessly to perfect new and more elaborate ways of promoting the ever famous purple pride.

Cheerleaders "Have Got What It Takes"

This year's varsity squad met the cheerleading challenge with the vigor and enthusiasm needed to keep the student body moving. In addition to cheering the varsity sports, the girls provided spirit signs for the cafeteria and sold tickets to away games. Although their plans to attend summer camp were washed out by Hurricane Agnes, the girls practiced and worked every day during the year to keep school spirit at an all-time high.

Determination Marks Cagers

The '72-'73 varsity basketball squad demonstrated the determination needed to transform individuals into a good team. Cooperation, sportsmanship, and determination were the trademarks of the LCHS cagers. Although the players succumbed by slim margins of just a few points in several games, the "Fighting Five" never said "die," but played with an all-out effort to win. Victory came often to the cagers, but they did not rest on the glory of yeaterday's game. With some great outside shooting and a sturdy defensive forward, the team always "worried" the foe. Each player earned his letter-"D" for determination.

Girls Remain Undefeated

The Crusaderettes provided LCHS with an outstanding display of exciting basketball this year, as the girls surged through an undefeated season. The team combined optimism, practice, practice, and more practice with a pinch of "Lady Luck" to gain victory after victory. With a powerful offense averaging 68 points and a defense conceding only 19 points per game, the girls were a serious threat to each team at the District Playoffs. The Crusaderettes proved again this year that girls' basketball at LCHS is a force to be reckoned with.

Matmen Meet Successful Season

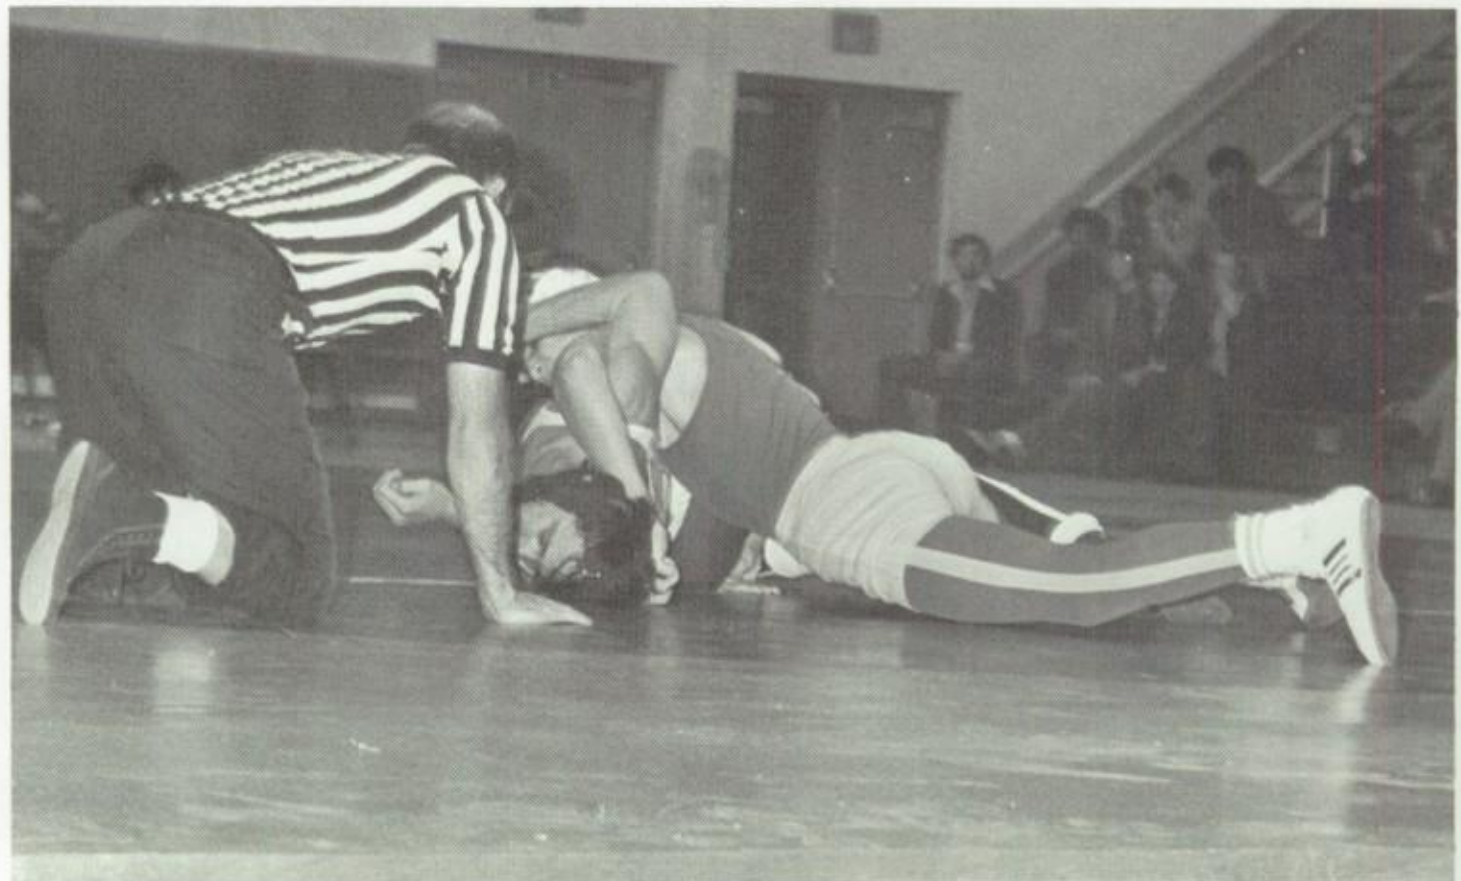

Physical ability is what counts in a wrestling match, and the LCHS matmen have quite a bit of that. Wrestling is a unique sport in that it is a man-to-man contest. A wrestler is personally responsible for his victories or his defeats. Each man directly contributes to or subtracts from the record. This year, therefore, each grappler can have pride in the 9-5 record. Led by co-captains Dave Wimer and Dan Becker, the squad has shown that drive, desire, and conviction are the secrets to a successful season.
